UPCOMING CALL FOR PAPERS

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

Social Care and Social Policy in Ireland: Seeking Social Justice in the Era of Austerity and Beyond

DIT Grangegorman Campus 13th February 2015

The aim of this conference is to provide a space where social care practitioners and those working in related fields such as community work, youth work and social work can come together with academics, researchers and activists to share ideas and experiences in exploring issues related to activism and policy advocacy from a social justice perspective. There will also be dedicated strands within the conference for students of social care and related fields.

This conference is a collaborative initiative of members of the social care programme teams in Dublin Institute of Technology, Institute of Technology Blanchardstown and Institute of Technology Tallaght. Organisers: Karen Smith & Anne Marie Shier (DIT), Kevin Murphy (ITB) and Margaret Fingleton (ITT).

Proposals are welcome for papers from practitioners, activists or researchers related to the conference theme of social care, activism and advocacy and social justice. (maximum 300 words). Also welcome are proposals (maximum 250 words) from students to deliver short presentations (10 minutes) on topics related to the conference theme. Alternatively students are invited to submit proposals for poster presentations to be displayed at the conference.

Papers could address issues related to policy in the broad domain of social care which includes, but is not limited to: children, young people and families; domestic and gender-based violence; poverty and social inclusion; housing and homelessness; mental health, substance abuse and addiction; educational disadvantage; disability; community development; asylum seekers and refugees. Papers could also address wider issues related to social care policy, advocacy/activism and social justice such as privatisation of social care work and the implications for social justice; formal participation of social care-workers/service-users in national policy-making; barriers to activism and/or policy advocacy work faced by social care practitioners.

Closing date for Abstracts: Please forward abstracts, along with brief biographical details to socialcarepolicyconference@gmail.com by 5pm December 15th 2014.

If you have a submission or suggestion on any upcoming events, seminars, presentations, launches or conferences and would like them to be included in a future edition, please email newsletter@ispa.ie DISCLAIMER: The ISPA does not take responsibility for advertising events. If you would like an event to be advertised it must be received one week before publication

UPCOMING/RECENT PUBLICATIONS FROM THE POLICY PRESS (UK)

- Good times, bad times: The welfare myth of them and us by John Hills. This groundbreaking book uses extensive research and survey evidence to challenge the myth that the population divides into those who benefit from the welfare state and those who pay into it. It shows that all of us rely on the welfare state throughout our lifetimes, not just a small 'welfare-dependent' minority.
- Father and Daughter: Patriarchy, gender and social science by Ann Oakley. Father and daughter provides an unique 'insider perspective' on two key figures in twentieth-century British social science, combining biography of Richard Titmuss and autobiography by his daughter Ann Oakley.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY MAYNOOTH UNIVERSITY

We are now seeking to recruit a part-time Research Assistant and Data Co-Ordinator to join a large research team which will be undertaking an exciting five-year, HRB-funded research programme called ENRICH (Evaluation of wRaparound in Ireland for CHildren and Families) which focuses on the development, implementation and evaluation of novel early intervention and prevention services for vulnerable children and their families in Ireland. This important multidisciplinary research programme is being led by Dr Sinéad McGilloway (Senior Lecturer, and Director, Mental Health and Social Research Unit, Department of Psychology) and involves a team of senior academics from Queen's University Belfast, the University of Ulster, NUI Galway and the University of York in England. The study is funded as part of the HRB's new Collaborative Applied Research Grant scheme.

The successful candidate will:

- Have at least a 2.1 (Hons) degree and/or a Masters in a social science or health-related discipline;
- Have a minimum of two years' experience of working in an applied research setting;
- Demonstrate good experience of managing and analysing quantitative data and handling large data sets; some experience of working with qualitative data would also be an advantage;
- Have a strong interest in, and some experience of undertaking, applied 'real world' research preferably in a child/family-related field;
- Be an effective and highly motivated team player as well as possessing initiative and the ability to work independently;
- Possess strong oral, written and analytical skills;
- Have well developed interpersonal and organisational skills;
- Have a high level of computer literacy including proficiency in using SPSS (or similar);
- Demonstrate a strong commitment to developing rigorous, policy-relevant and child-centred mental health research in Ireland;

Be willing to work unsociable hours when required and have access to a car and a clean driving licence.

Other duties will include, but are not limited to the following:

- To contribute to data collection at all research sites;
- To set up and maintain all project databases;
- To undertake data entry, regular screening/cleaning and data manipulation procedures including the quality control of the data (eg. performing routine checks and data validation);
- To assist in the management of clients' files, providing data and administrative support, collating data documents, and maintaining forms and records;
- To undertake literature and internet searches as and when necessary and to help maintain the project website;
- To conduct data analyses in collaboration with the Research Programme Manager;
- To assist in the preparation of research reports, drafting of research papers (where applicable) and any other forms of dissemination;
- Liaise effectively with participants and a wide range of stakeholders including, in particular, community-based service provider organisations;
- Work to tight deadlines and have an ability to cope with simultaneous tasks/activities;
- Contribute to the drafting of regular progress reports and other research outputs as well as assisting with the preparation of papers for publication in high quality peer-reviewed journals etc. and engaging in other forms of dissemination as and when required;
- Attend research team and stakeholder/collaborator meetings and contribute to the overall activities of the research team as and when required;
- Demonstrate a willingness to contribute as and when required, to seminars, workshops etc. and other activities within the Department of Psychology.

Please ensure that you USE THE FOLLOWING REFERENCE 'RA_Psychology' in the subject line of your application email. This will clarify which role you are applying for. Applications should be made by sending the following information as attachments to recruitment@nuim.ie

Please include the following: a Curriculum Vitae, including all qualifications and experience, and a covering letter addressing your interest and suitability for the role; the names, email addresses, correspondence addresses and telephone numbers of three referees whom the University may contact.

Completed application documents should be forwarded by email to arrive no later than midnight, Sunday, 7th December 2014

7. ISPA HISTORY AND CURRENT COMMITTEE

The Irish Social Policy Association, which was established in 1997, aims to provide a forum for the analysis, discussion and development of social policy in Ireland, North and South. The inspiration to form a cross border Association dedicated to social policy in Ireland came from Dr Patricia Kennedy and Dr Nessa Winston from the Department of Social Policy and Social Work, University College Dublin.

The Association endeavours to broaden the debate on social policy by providing a forum for discussion that embraces the views and opinion of a wide range of relevant actors. ISPA brings together professionals and non-professionals with an interest in social policy, academics, policy makers, officials in the civil service and public service bodies, employer and trade union organisations as well as organisations and groups in the not-for-profit sector. Through the Association, discussions and debates have been stimulated on a variety of contemporary social policy issues.

CURRENT ISPA COMMITTEE

The The ISPA Committee for 2014-2015 is as follows: Micheál Collins (Chair), Lorna Roe (Vice Chair), Eoin Carroll (Secretary), Michelle Murphy (Treasurer), Ann Stokes (Newsletter), Marcella McGovern (Post Grad Officer), Eamon Murphy (Website), Vivienne Byers, Geoffrey Cook, Sarah Craig, Catherine-Anne Field, Eithne Fitzgerald, Tony McCashin, Frank Mills, Nat O'Connor, Pdraig Rehill and Justyna Szewczyk.
