Doctor of Social Science (DSocSc), University College Cork: Applications open for September 2015

The Doctor of Social Science (DSocSc) run by the School of Applied Social Studies at UCC is a four year, advanced programme which provides the opportunity for experienced professionals based in public sector, community/voluntary, international non-government and private sector organisations to work on complex issues that are of direct relevance to their professional practice and organisational contexts. As an alternative to the traditional PhD, the DSocSc provides a more structured learning environment which combines taught modules and research. Participants complete taught modules in the first two years of the programme in the areas of social research methods, social theory, and social policy debates and processes, and complete a 60,000 word thesis in Years 3 and 4. Taught modules in Years 1 and 2 are structured around four, five-day workshops in UCC, making it ideal for those who may be living at a distance from UCC.

Applications are now open for our September 2015 intake, through the Postgraduate Admissions Centre (www.pac.ie). The closing date for applications is 13 April 2015. More information about the programme can be found on the DSocSc website (<http://drosocialscienceucc.com/>), which includes video clips of current participants explaining why they like the pedagogic approach taken in the DSocSc.

We welcome informal discussions from potential applicants: please contact the Joint Course Directors, Dr. Claire Edwards (claire.edwards@ucc.ie) or Professor Alastair Christie (a.christie@ucc.ie).

If you have a submission or suggestion on any upcoming events, seminars, presentations, launches or conferences and would like them to be included in a future edition, please email newsletter@ispa.ie DISCLAIMER: The ISPA does not take responsibility for advertising events. - Children behind bars: Why the abuse of child imprisonment must end by Carolyne Willow. This engaging book presents the shocking truth about the lives and deaths of children in custody. Drawing on human rights legislation, it outlines the harsh realities of penal child custody. The issues are explored through the lens of protection, not punishment, and the author finds there can be only one conclusion: child prisons must close.

The Irish Social Policy Association, which was established in 1997, aims to provide a forum for the analysis, discussion and development of social policy in Ireland, North and South. The inspiration to form a cross border Association dedicated to social policy in Ireland came from Dr Patricia Kennedy and Dr Nessa Winston from the Department of Social Policy and Social Work, University College Dublin.

The Association endeavours to broaden the debate on social policy by providing a forum for discussion that embraces the views and opinion of a wide range of relevant actors. ISPA brings together professionals and non-professionals with an interest in social policy, academics, policy makers, officials in the civil service and public service bodies, employer and trade union organisations as well as organisations and groups in the not-for-profit sector. Through the Association, discussions and debates have been stimulated on a variety of contemporary social policy issues.
